Special Issue on Gynecological Inflammation and Infection

Call for Papers

Gynecological Inflammation and Infection can be somewhat complicated and polymicrobial, which means they are caused by several species of microorganisms. These infections and inflammations can occur anywhere from the vulva, vagina, cervix, uterus, adnexa and ovaries.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring gynecological inflammation and infection. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Causes and risk factors
- Symptoms
- Diagnosis and testing
- Vulvitis
- Vaginitis
- Cervicitis
- Pelvic Inflammatory disease
- Treatment

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Gynecological Inflammation and Infection” should be selected during your submission.
