Special Issue on Effect of Menopause on Women

Call for Papers

Menopause is a stage in life when a woman stops having her monthly period. It is a normal part of aging and marks the end of a woman's reproductive years. Menopause typically occurs in a woman's late 40s to early 50s. However, women who have their ovaries surgically removed undergo "sudden" menopause.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring effect of menopause on women. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Symptoms of menopause
- Hormonal changes during menopause
- Perimenopause
- Menopause
- Postmenopause
- Complications after menopause
- Menopause treatments

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Effect of Menopause on Women” should be selected during your submission.
