

Special Issue on Health Education and Promotion

Call for Papers

Health Education is the profession of educating people about health. It covers educations for environmental health, physical health, social health, emotional health, intellectual health and spiritual health. Health promotion is the process of enabling people to increase control over, and to improve, their health. Health education has been widely carried out to help individuals and communities to promote their health, by increasing their knowledge or influencing their attitudes. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of health education and promotion.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring health education and promotion. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Responsibility of health educator
- Public health education
- Health promotion
- The Role of the Health Educator
- Motivation
- Health Education Career Opportunities

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue - Health Education and Promotion” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 22nd, 2014
Publication Date	March 2014

Guest Editor:

Dr. Margaret Hodgins

National University of Ireland, Galway

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at health@scirp.org