

Special Issue on Health Economics

Call for Papers

This special issue on “Health Economics” will be focusing on the latest development in the economics of health and medical care. It covers macro- and microeconomics of health care financing, health insurance and reimbursement as well as health economic evaluation, health services research and health policy analysis. As one of the most important topic closely related to health, health economics is of great attractions to researchers. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Health Economics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Health Economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Demand and utilization of health services
- health care financing
- health insurance and reimbursement
- health care systems
- health policy

Authors should read over the journal’s Authors’ Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue - Health Economics” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 30th, 2013
Publication Date	March 2014

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at health@scirp.org

