

Special Issue on Ethnic and Racial Research

Call for Papers

Ethnicity denotes groups, such as Irish, Fijian, or Sioux, etc. that share a common identity-based ancestry, language, or culture. It is often based on religion, beliefs, and customs as well as memories of migration or colonization. In scientific analysis, it can be important to distinguish, however loosely, between race and ethnicity. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in this area of ethnic and racial research.

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore ethnic and racial research. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Race, ethnicity and identity in America
- Racialism and racial discrimination
- National cultural differences
- Multicultural and cross-cultural
- Ethnic differences
- Racial politics

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Ethnic and Racial Research” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	March 28th, 2018
