

Special Issue on Female and Literary Study

Call for Papers

Female and Literary Study focuses on the "female voice" in the literature. It describes the relationships between the literary text and ideas about power and sexuality and gender. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Female and Literary Study.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Female and Literary Study. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Female and freedom
- Feminist literary criticism
- Women's literary recovery
- Women in literature
- Female literary tradition
- Feminist movement
- Women's life writing
- Female poets
- Feminist essays

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title. The research field "Special Issue - Female and Literary Study" should be selected during your submission.
