

Special Issue on International Law and Policy

Call for Papers

International Law and Policy focuses on the legal rules, norms, and standards governing the relations and dealings of nations with each other, as well as the relations between states and individuals, and relations between international organizations. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of International Law and Policy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring International Law and Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Environmental law
- Foreign policy
- Global crisis and policy
- International criminal law
- International organizations
- International security law
- International labor law
- International regulation
- Social and economic policy
- Territory and the sea
- Treaties
- War and armed conflict

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - International Law and Policy” should be selected during your submission.
