Special Issue on Educational Assessment and Evaluation

Call for Papers

Educational assessment and evaluation includes all forms of educational evaluation, testing, grading and examination, which is the systematic process of documenting and using empirical data on the knowledge, skill, attitudes, and beliefs to refine programs and improve student learning. Assessment can focus on the individual learner, the learning community, a course, an academic program, the institution, or the educational system as a whole.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Educational Assessment and Evaluation. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Evaluation and reflection in teaching
- School evaluation and school development
- Performance assessment and education reform
- Competencies, skills and assessment
- Teacher evaluation and professional growth
- Students assessment and learning strategy
- Value-added assessment in education
- Assessment and innovation in education
- Technology assessment in education
- Assessment & evaluation in higher education
- Assessment methods and approaches
- Computer aided assessment
- Evaluation in science, technology, society and medical education
- Assessment, effective learning and educational leadership
- Classroom assessment techniques
- Curriculum evaluation and development
- Educational and psychological testing

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Educational Assessment and Evaluation” should be chosen during your submission.
