

Special Issue on Liver Disease

Call for Papers

Liver disease, also known as hepatic disease, is any disturbance of liver function that causes illness. The liver is responsible for many critical functions and should it become diseased or damaged, the loss of those functions can cause significant damage to the body. Signs and symptoms of liver disease include: jaundice, swelling, chronic fatigue, nausea or vomiting, poor appetite and so on.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Liver Disease. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Liver cirrhosis
- Hepatitis
- Hepatic surgery
- Hepatocellular carcinoma
- Liver failure
- Fatty liver

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Liver Disease” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	March 20th, 2018
