

Special Issue on Stress and Behavior

Call for Papers

Stress and Behavior focus on stress, stress-related neurobehavioral phenotypes, their neural, molecular and genetic mechanisms, as well as stress-evoked neuropsychiatric disorders.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring stress and behavior. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Human ethology and environment interactions
- Experimental models of stress-related behavior
- Fear, anxiety, depression and other affective disorders
- Stress, memory and learning
- Psychophysiology and neuropsychology of stress
- Stress neurobiology and biopsychiatry
- Biomarkers of stress

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Stress and Behavior” should be selected during your submission.
