

Special Issue on Complementary and Alternative Medicine

Call for Papers

Complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) can complement the shortcomings of mainstream medicine and provide diagnostic, therapeutic and preventive methods that mainstream medicine cannot achieve. Complementary and alternative medicine is the term for medical products and medical practices that are not part of standard medical care. Some CAM therapies have undergone careful evaluation and have found to be safe and effective. It has gradually become a new trend of medicine all over the world.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring complementary and alternative medicine. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Botanical medicine
- Acupuncture and traditional chinese medicine
- Nutrition and dietary supplements
- Mind-body medicine
