

Special Issue on Gastrointestinal Cancer

Call for Papers

Gastrointestinal cancer is the cancer that occurs in any part of the digestive system, which includes the gastrointestinal tract and accessory organs of digestion (e.g., esophagus, stomach, biliary system, intestines, liver, anus and pancreas). The symptoms may include discomfort and/or pain in the stomach, nausea and vomiting, weight loss, difficulty swallowing, blood in the stool, and feeling full or bloated after a small meal.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Gastrointestinal Cancer. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Anal cancer
- Cholangiocarcinoma
- Colon cancer
- Colorectal cancer
- Esophagus cancer
- Gallbladder cancer
- Gastric cancer
- Liver cancer
- Pancreatic cancer
- Rectal cancer
- Small intestine cancer

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Gastrointestinal Cancer” should be selected during your submission.
