

Special Issue on Gastric Cancer

Call for Papers

Gastric cancer, also known as stomach cancer, begins when cancer cells form in the inner lining of the stomach. It usually doesn't cause symptoms until the later stages, so it's often not diagnosed until it's more advanced. Treatments may include chemotherapy, radiation therapy, immunotherapy, and surgery.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Gastric Cancer. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Helicobacter pylori infection
- Upper GI endoscopy
- Gastrectomy
- Risk factors
- Diagnosis & treatment
- Clinical trials

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Gastric Cancer” should be selected during your submission.
