

Special Issue on Environmental Management and Policy

Call for Papers

Environmental policy is a country's major policy to protect the environment, which is directly related to the country's environmental legislation and environmental management, as well as the overall state of the country's environment. Implementation of the environmental policy is an important basis and measure to promote and guide the sustainable and coordinated development of economy and environment, and it must be carefully reviewed in environmental impact assessment. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Environmental Management and Policy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Environmental Management and Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Environmental protection measures
- Environmental monitoring and assessment
- Environmental economics: theory, application, and policy
- Environmental law and tax
- Environment and innovation policy
- Environmental politics and policy
- Environment and sustainable development
- Environment and social behavior

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Environmental Management and Policy” should be selected during your submission.
