

Special Issue on Public Service and Public Administration

Call for Papers

Public service is a service intended to serve all members of a community. It is usually provided by the government to people living within its jurisdiction, either directly (through the public sector) or by financing provision of services. Public administration is the implementation of government policy and also an academic discipline that studies this implementation and prepares civil employees for working in the public service.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Public Service and Public Administration. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Public administration and public policy
- Government & public services
- Politics of public services
- Public management and economics
- Public service and social responsibility
- Social service management
- Public sector efficiency
- Social infrastructure services
- Social welfare administration
- Social security
- Public service and civic engagement
- Public health service
- International and global affairs
- Responses to COVID-19

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Public Service and Public Administration” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Scientific Research
Open Access

Journal of Service Science and Management

ISSN Online: 1940-9907

Submission Deadline	September 15th, 2022
Publication Date	November 2022

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

JSSM Editorial Office
jssm@scirp.org