

Special Issue on Library Science Research

Call for Papers

Library science is an interdisciplinary or multidisciplinary field that applies the practices, perspectives, and tools of management, information technology, education, and other areas to libraries. It involves the collection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information resources. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in area of library science research.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on library science research. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Archival science
- Library and information system
- Public library
- Special library
- Collection management
- Statistics and management
- Database management

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Library Science Research” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	September 7th, 2017
Publication Date	November 2017

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries

Scientific Research
Open Access

Open Journal of Social Sciences

ISSN Online: 2327-5960

Please contact Editorial Assistant at jss@scirp.org