

Special Issue on Elderly Nursing

Call for Papers

Nursing care of the elderly refers to the specialized field of nursing that focuses on providing comprehensive care and support to older adults. This area of research encompasses various subdomains that aim to promote the health and well-being of the elderly population and address their unique needs and concerns. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in this area of Elderly Nursing.

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore Elderly Nursing. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Geriatric assessment and management
- Chronic disease management
- Palliative and end-of-life care
- Aging-related mental health
- Long-term care and aging in place
- Resources for caring for the elderly

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue –Elderly Nursing” should be selected during your submission.
