

Special Issue on Birth Control

Call for Papers

Birth control, also known as contraception, is a method or device used to prevent pregnancy. People have used birth control methods for thousands of years, while safe and effective methods only became available in the 20th century. There are various types that can be used depending on what is best for the woman and her significant other.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Birth Control. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cervical cap
- Tubal ligation
- Vasectomy
- Oral pills
- Condom
- Vaginal ring
- Intrauterine devices
- Abortion

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Birth Control” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	November 25th, 2016
Publication Date	January 2017

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ojog@scirp.org.