

Special Issue on Beliefs, Values and Morals Application

Call for Papers

Beliefs, values and morals can have a profound effect on the decisions people make on a daily basis. Though it's clear that all three personal philosophy and behavior, the distinction between them isn't always clear, it is usually used interchangeably. The goal of this Special Issue is to provide a platform for scientists worldwide to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of beliefs, values and moral application.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring beliefs, values and moral application. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Nature and theories of morality
- Virtue ethics
- Absolutism vs relativism
- Reward and punishment
- Setting up a moral system
- Beliefs
- Applications

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title. The research field "Special Issue - Beliefs, Values and Morals Application" should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:
