Special Issue on Politics, Culture, and Society

Call for Papers

Political culture is a subjective value category, which is the political value orientation mode of people's political life. Political culture belongs to the spiritual category of political society. It is the general tendency of the attitude, belief, emotion and value of a society about political system and political problems. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Politics, Culture, and Society.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Politics, Culture, and Society. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Political culture and democracy
- Culture, values, and beliefs
- Ideas and ideologies in politics
- Political attitudes and behavior
- Diplomacy and politics
- Political culture and public opinion
- Political socialization and acculturation
- Political cultures, health systems and health policy

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Politics, Culture, and Society” should be selected during your submission.
