

Special Issue on Political Sociology

Call for Papers

Political sociology is the study of power and the relationship among society, state, and political conflict. It studies social political phenomena by analyzing the relationship between society and politics. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Political Sociology.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Political Sociology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Pluralism and power relations
- Social structure and politics
- Social and political reform
- Political development
- Politics and society
- Political communication and participation
- Social and political culture
- Political conflict
- Sociological analysis of political phenomena
- Social movements
- Social and political attitudes

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Political Sociology” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	March 6th, 2024
Publication Date	May 2024

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at

Scientific Research
Open Access

Open Journal of Political Science

ISSN Online: 2164-0513

ojps@scirp.org.