

Special Issue on Public Administration and Politics

Call for Papers

Public administration is the fulfillment or enforcement of public policy and also an academic discipline that studies this implementation and prepares civil employees for working in the public service. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Public Administration and Politics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Public Administration and Politics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Community services
- Disaster response
- Emergency management
- Law enforcement and public safety
- Municipal government
- Operations of public organizations
- Public and international affairs
- Public works
- Urban and regional planning

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Public Administration and Politics” should be selected during your submission.
