

Special Issue on International Relations and Politics

Call for Papers

International Relations and Politics is a field that studies the interactions between states, international organizations, non-governmental organizations, and various other actors in the global political system. It seeks to understand the complex relationships between the actors in the international system, ranging from conflicts and cooperation to trade and development. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of International Relations and Politics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring International Relations and Politics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Cooperation and conflict
- Colonialism and imperialism
- Global governance
- Diplomatic history
- European Union
- Security studies
- State sovereignty
- Foreign policy and international systems
- Global governance
- Terrorism
- International law, institutions and ethics
- International political economy
- International relations
- International security
- Law of the sea
- Peace and conflict studies
- Power and influence

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - International Relations and Politics” should be selected during your submission.

---

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	April 22nd, 2024
Publication Date	June 2024

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ojps@scirp.org.