

Special Issue on Environmental Politics

Call for Papers

Environmental politics refers to the study and analysis of the political processes and decision-making surrounding environmental issues and policies. It encompasses the interactions between various political actors, such as governments, interest groups, and non-governmental organizations, in addressing environmental challenges. Environmental politics focuses on the formulation, implementation, and evaluation of policies and regulations aimed at protecting and preserving the natural environment. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Environmental Politics.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Environmental Politics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Environmental issues
- Policy-making
- Government involvement
- Non-governmental organizations
- Environmental regulations
- International cooperation
- Environmental governance
- Climate change
- Conservation
- Natural resource management
- Renewable energy
- Pollution control
- Ecological justice
- Environmental justice

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Environmental Politics” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	August 8th, 2024
Publication Date	October 2024

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at ojps@scirp.org.