Special Issue on Developmental Pediatrics

Call for Papers

Developmental pediatrics is an academic discipline that focuses on the evaluation, diagnosis, and management of children with developmental delays and disabilities. It involves the study of typical and atypical child development, identifying developmental milestones, and addressing challenges through early intervention and therapeutic interventions. Developmental pediatricians collaborate with other healthcare professionals to provide comprehensive care for children with neurodevelopmental disorders, such as autism spectrum disorder, attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), developmental delays, and intellectual disabilities, aiming to optimize their long-term outcomes and quality of life.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Developmental Pediatrics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Infant and newborn development
- Neonatology and developmental biology
- Newborn defects
- Mental development
- Autism spectrum disorder
- Intellectual disabilities
- Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD)
- Language and communication disorders
- Learning disabilities
- Motor development
- Early intervention
- Genetic and neurodevelopmental disorders
- Parenting and family dynamics
- Psychosocial development

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – *Developmental Pediatrics” should be chosen during your submission.
