

Special Issue on Clinical Psychology and Behavioral Health Call for Papers

Clinical Psychology and Behavioral Health is an academic field dedicated to understanding and addressing mental health and behavioral issues through research, assessment, and therapy. It integrates principles from psychology, neuroscience, and medicine to diagnose and treat a wide range of psychological disorders and promote overall well-being. This field focuses on evidence-based interventions and therapies to improve individuals' mental health, enhance their functioning and quality of life, and contribute to the advancement of psychological knowledge and practice.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Clinical Psychology and Behavioral Health. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Neuropsychology
- Psychopathology
- Substance abuse and addiction
- Stress and depression management
- Psychological factors, behavior change and health
- Psychological assessment and psychometrics
- Cognitive-behavioral therapy
- Trauma and stress-related disorders
- Psychological distress
- Personality disorders
- Child and adolescent psychology
- Mental health for the elderly
- Psychotherapy and counseling
- Positive psychology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Clinical Psychology and Behavioral Health” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	February 26th, 2024
Publication Date	April 2024

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

PSYCH Editorial Office
psych@scirp.org