

Special Issue on International Economics

Call for Papers

International Economics is concerned with the effects upon economic activity of production, trade, and investment across countries. It is growing in importance as a field of study because of the rapid integration of international economic markets. Increasingly, businesses, consumers, and governments realize that their lives are walk into not only by what goes on in their own country but also by what is happening around the world. Local business must compete with these foreign products.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring international economics. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- International trade and investment
- International finance
- International monetary economics and macroeconomics
- International political economy
- International relations
- Global economic integration

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - International Economics” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue timetable:

Submission Deadline	June 24th, 2015
Publication Date	August 2015

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at tel@scirp.org