

Special Issue on Business Cycle

Call for Papers

The Business Cycle is the downward and upward movement of gross domestic product (GDP) around its long-term growth trend. These fluctuations typically involve shifts over time between periods of relatively rapid economic growth, and periods of relative stagnation or decline (contractions or recessions).

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring business cycle. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Fiscal policy and monetary policy
- Economic indicators
- Bottlenecks and inflation
- Aggregate demand and supply
- Stages of a business cycle
- Factors that shape business cycles
- Business cycle variants, stagflation and the jobless recovery
- Keys to successful business cycle management

Authors should read over the journal's Authors' Guidelines carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal at Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue – Business Cycle” should be selected during your submission.
