

Special Issue on Economic System

Call for Papers

An economic system is a system of production, resource allocation, and distribution of goods and services within a society or a given geographic area. It includes the combination of the various institutions, agencies, entities, decision-making processes, and patterns of consumption that comprise the economic structure of a given community. As such, an economic system is a type of social system. All economic systems have three basic questions to ask: what to produce, how to produce and in what quantities, and who receives the output of production.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on economic system. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Economic reform and transformation
- Banking industry
- Market economies and planned economies
- Mixed economy
- Political economy
- Economy structure
- International trade and investment
- Knowledge and internet economy

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Economic System” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	January 19th, 2018
Publication Date	March 2018

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries
Please contact Editorial Assistant at

Scientific Research
Open Access

Theoretical Economics Letters

ISSN Online: 2162-2086

tel@scirp.org