

Contents

Introduction.....	1
--------------------------	----------

Chapter One

Revolutionary Dramas and Songs in the Jiangxi Soviet Areas.....	29
--	-----------

1.1 The CPC and the Early Revolutionary Drama.....	29
1.2 Perspectives on Revolutionary Literature and Art.....	33
1.3 The Red Army Academy Social Club.....	37
1.4 Drama Troupes in the Jiangxi Soviet.....	43
1.5 New Dramas and Songs in the Jiangxi Soviet.....	59

Chapter Two

Revolutionary Songs and Drama Troupes during the Long March.....	67
---	-----------

2.1 The Soldiers' Drama Society.....	67
2.2 The Forward Drama Troupe.....	72
2.3 The Combat Drama Society.....	76
2.4 Revolutionary Songs in Sichuan-Shaanxi Region.....	85
2.5 Revolutionary Songs in Ethnic-Minority-Inhabited Areas.....	91

Chapter Three

Revolutionary Dramas and Songs during the War of Resistance

Against Japanese Aggression.....	97
---	-----------

3.1 Revolutionary Drama Troupes in North China.....	97
3.1.1 The Combat Drama Society.....	97
3.1.2 The Taihang Mountains Drama Troupe.....	101
3.1.3 The Xiangyuan Rural Drama Troupe.....	114
3.1.4 The High Street Village Drama Troupe.....	120
3.2 Revolutionary Songs during This Period.....	128
3.2.1 Functions of Anti-War Music.....	130
3.2.2 The Rise of Folk Songs.....	134

3.2.3 The Soldier in Revolutionary Songs.....	140
3.2.4 The Strong Leadership of the CPC.....	146
3.2.5 Heroes vs Villains in Revolutionary Songs.....	149
3.2.6 Nie Er’s Contributions to the Mass Songs.....	162
3.3 The National Salvation Song Movement.....	168
3.4 March Songs for Soldiers during the War of Resistance.....	175

Chapter Four

Mass Songs and Left-Wing Musical Activities.....187

4.1 Emergence of Mass Songs.....	188
4.2 The Mass Singing Movement for National Salvation.....	191
4.3 Music Productions in the KMT-Held Areas.....	193
4.4 Music Creations in the Liberated Areas.....	197
4.5 Nie Er and Xian Xinghai.....	205
4.5.1 Nie Er.....	205
4.5.2 Xian Xinghai.....	218
4.6 Revolutionary Drama Development in Shanghai.....	227
4.6.1 Ouyang Yuqian and Chinese Drama Troupe.....	237
4.6.2 Development of Other Dramas.....	243

Chapter Five

Revolutionary Dramas and Songs in the Yan’an Period and the War

of Liberation.....253

5.1 The Community of Revolutionary Artists.....	256
5.2 Drama Production at the Lu Xun Academy of Art.....	262
5.2.1 The Establishment of the Lu Xun Academy of Art.....	263
5.2.2 Development of Revolutionary Art in the Lu Xun Academy.....	267
5.3 The Masses’ Drama Troupe.....	273
5.3.1 The Masses’ Drama Troupe and Revolutionary Discourse.....	274
5.3.2 The Rise of Musicians and Dramatists.....	276
5.4 The Music Work Group.....	280
5.5 Plays and Performances in Yan’an.....	284

5.6 Yangye Dance for the Revolution.....	293
5.7 Revolutionary Drama in the War of Liberation.....	297
5.7.1 Drama Troupes in the PLA.....	298
5.7.2 Revolutionary Dramas in Rural China.....	310
5.8 Revolutionary Music Creation during the War of Liberation.....	319
Chapter Six
Revolutionary Songs and Model Operas in the 1960s and 1970s.....	327
6.1 New Beijing Opera Troupes.....	328
6.2 Model Beijing Opera as a Component of Cultural Construction.....	333
6.3 Principles for Creating Model Beijing Opera.....	337
6.4 Defining Features of Song.....	340
6.5 Revolutionary Songs in the 1960s and 1970s.....	344
6.6 The Role of “New Songs of the Battlefield” in the 1960s and 1970s.....	349
6.6.1 Compilation of the New Songs of the Battlefield.....	350
6.6.2 Structure of New Songs.....	352
6.6.3 Composers and Lyricists.....	355
6.6.4 Dissemination of New Songs of the Battlefield.....	357
6.6.5 Textual Analysis.....	359
6.6.5.1 Historic Revolutionary Songs.....	360
6.6.5.2 Revolutionary Folk Songs.....	364
6.6.5.3 Songs for Political Campaigns.....	366
6.6.5.4 Songs of Ethnic Minorities.....	368
6.6.5.5 Songs of the Peasants, Soldiers, and Workers.....	369
6.6.5.6 Youth and Children’s Songs.....	371
6.6.5.7 Songs about the International Relations.....	372
References.....	375