Special Issue on Social Ideology

Call for Papers

Sustainable tourism development guidelines and management practices are applicable to all forms of tourism in all types of destinations, including mass tourism and the various niche tourism segments. Sustainability principles refer to the environmental, economic, and socio-cultural aspects of tourism development, and a suitable balance must be established between these three dimensions to guarantee its long-term sustainability. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in this area of social ideology.

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore social ideology. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Positive view of ideology
- Negative view of ideology
- Ideology critique
- Visual ideology
- Ideology and media
- Political ideologies and government ideology
- Ideology and semiotic theory

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Social Ideology” should be selected during your submission.
