Special Issue on Management Accounting

Call for Papers

Management accounting is a kind of management activity that takes currency as the main measurement unit and uses special methods and procedures to comprehensively, continuously and systematically calculate and supervise the economic activities of various units (accounting subjects), and to provide relevant parties accounting information to improve economic benefits. The function of modern management accounting extends from the simple accounting of financial accounting to the organic combination of analyzing the past, controlling the present and planning the future. Management accounting is playing an increasingly important role in the financial management activities of enterprises.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring management accounting. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Auditing, taxation and corporate governance
- Value management
- Decision-making accounting
- Enterprise accounting
- Responsibility accounting
- Performance measures
- Cost-benefit analysis
- Strategic management accounting

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Management Accounting” should be chosen during your submission.
