Special Issue on Health Policy

Call for Papers

Health policy can be defined as the "decisions, plans, and actions that are undertaken to achieve specific healthcare goals within a society". There are many categories of health policies, including global health policy, public health policy, mental health policy, health care services policy, insurance policy, personal healthcare policy, pharmaceutical policy, and policies related to public health such as vaccination policy, tobacco control policy or breastfeeding promotion policy. They may cover topics of financing and delivery of healthcare, access to care, quality of care, and health equity.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Health Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Global and public health policy
- Mental health policy
- Social welfare health policy and insurance
- Health economics and financing policy
- Tobacco control and public health
- Health workforce policy
- Health system improvement and policy
- Barriers and challenges in healthcare systems
- Health innovation and government policy
- Health care reform
- Health services management and policy
- Right to death and euthanasia
- Health and foreign policy
- Health, law and politics
- Health and social care

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Health Policy” should be chosen during your submission.
