Special Issue on Advanced Nursing

Call for Papers

In an increasingly complex health care industry, advanced practice nurses are playing a vital role. They are offering new ways of delivering cost-effective care and increasing access to qualified practitioners for many patients and their families. They are often providing health care to under-served populations. Advanced practice nurses must be grounded in theory and research as guides to their clinical practice. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in this area of advanced nursing.

In this special issue, we invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles that explore advanced nursing. In this special issue, potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Assessment and diagnosis of patients
- Treatment of patients
- Advanced nursing practice
- First aid care technique
- Elderly care
- Psychological and mental care

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Advanced Nursing” should be selected during your submission.
