Special Issue on Political Sociology

Call for Papers

Political sociology is concerned with the sociological analysis of political phenomena ranging from the State, to civil society, to the family, investigating topics such as citizenship, social movements, and the sources of social power.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on political sociology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Politics and citizenship
- Voting and democracy
- Social inequality and politics
- Public opinion and social movements
- Cultural politics
- Institutional analysis and politics
- Social democracy and social policy
- War and power of politics
- Religious life
- Women rights
- European studies
- History & political science
- International affairs

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Political Sociology” should be chosen during your submission.
