

Special Issue on Criminal Law and Comparative Law

Call for Papers

Criminal law refers to all laws that stipulate crimes and criminal responsibilities, including criminal codes, separate criminal laws and subsidiary criminal laws. Comparative law is a legal discipline that conducts comparative studies of laws in different historical periods or different countries. It is a comparative method to reveal these legal differences and commonalities. And its objective is to determine the commonalities and differences of different laws, and reveal their respective nature, characteristics and development laws. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Criminal Law and Comparative Law.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Criminal Law and Comparative Law. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Criminal justice and criminology
- Crime prevention
- Comparative law and economics
- Criminal procedure
- Comparative law, law reform and legal theory
- Criminal law and practice
- International criminal law
- Crime and criminal law
- Comparative law and its methodology

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Criminal Law and Comparative Law” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	November 21st, 2020
Publication Date	January 2021

Guest Editor:

Scientific Research
Open Access

Beijing Law Review

ISSN Online: 2159-4635

---

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at blr@scirp.org.