Special Issue on Economics, Law and Policy

Call for Papers

Economic law is the general term of economic laws and regulations, which mainly adjusts the social relations in the process of national economic management. It is mainly used to regulate commercial transactions. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Economics, Law and Policy.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Economics, Law and Policy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Business and corporate law
- Tax law
- Law on economic activities
- Trade law
- Economic policy, economic system and economic law
- International economic law
- Market regulation law
- Economic disputes
- Enterprise law

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Economics, Law and Policy” should be selected during your submission.
