

Special Issue on Law Theory and Practice

Call for Papers

Legal theory refers to the basic principle basis of laws and regulations that meet the requirements of the government of a country or region at that time. Correct legal theory can guide the development of the legal system in the right direction. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Law Theory and Practice.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Law Theory and Practice. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Law, morality and practice
- Philosophy of law
- Legal culture
- Jurisprudence
- Sociology of law
- Legal methodology
- Legal positivism
- Legal rights

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Law Theory and Practice” should be selected during your submission.
