Special Issue on Commercial and Economic Law

Call for Papers

Commercial and Economic Law focuses on the study of merchants’ status and obligations and of state intervention in economic activities, including laws governing establishment, competition law, and state regulation overseeing the conditions for commercial transactions. A sound knowledge and practice of commercial and economic law facilitates economic integration. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Commercial and Economic Law.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Commercial and Economic Law. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Banking law
- Broker/client relations
- Business law
- Commercial trade law
- Competition law
- Contracts
- Corporate law
- Economic disputes
- Economic policy
- Government taxation
- Law on economic activities
- Maritime law
- Market regulation law
- State regulation

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Commercial and Economic Law” should be selected during your submission.
