Special Issue on Curriculum and Instruction

Call for Papers

Curriculum and Instruction (C&I) is a field within education which seeks to research, develop, and implement curriculum changes that increase student achievement within and outside schools. The field focuses on how students learn and the best ways to educate.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Curriculum and Instruction. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Effective instructional practice
- Curriculum design and development
- Curriculum and instructional technology
- Curriculum, pedagogy and assessment
- Curriculum theory and experience
- Reform and innovation
- Students’ feedback and curriculum evaluation
- Science and transdisciplinary curriculum
- Instruction and student achievement
- Textbook design and research
- New trends in teaching and learning process

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Curriculum and Instruction” should be chosen during your submission.
