Special Issue on Case Reports in Infectious Diseases

Call for Papers

"Case Reports in Infectious Diseases" focuses on detailed descriptions of unique or interesting cases in the field of infectious diseases. These reports provide valuable insights into the diagnosis, management, and outcomes of rare or atypical infectious disease cases. They contribute to the body of knowledge by highlighting unusual presentations, treatment challenges, and potential areas for further research and investigation in the field of infectious diseases.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Case Reports in Infectious Diseases. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- New associations or variations in disease processes
- Uncommon or rare infectious diseases
- Novel diagnostic methods
- Treatment challenges
- Infections in immunocompromised patients
- Pediatric infectious diseases case reports
- Antimicrobial resistance cases
- Zoonotic infections and emerging infectious diseases
- Nosocomial or healthcare-associated infections
- Coinfections and comorbidities in infectious diseases
- Global health implications

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field "Special Issue – Case Reports in Infectious Diseases" should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:
