

Special Issue on Sociology, Economics and Health

Health sociology examines the interaction between society and health. As a field of study it is interested in all aspects of life, including contemporary as well as historical influences, that impact and alter our health and wellbeing. Health economics is concerned with issues related to efficiency, effectiveness, value and behavior in the production and consumption of health and healthcare. Health economics is important in determining how to improve health outcomes and lifestyle patterns through interactions between individuals, healthcare providers and clinical settings.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Sociology, Economics and Health. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Health and efficiency
- Socio-medical models
- Social theory and health
- Health policy, economics & sociology
- Health expenditure
- Health, risk and society
- Health & wellbeing
- Functioning of healthcare systems
- Social and community medicine
- Economics of health behavior
- Health technology assessment
- Sociology in public health
- Healthcare market
- Development of health economics
- Micro-economic evaluation
- Socioeconomic inequalities
- Social problems and mental health
- Population health promotion
- Medical ethics

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Sociology, Economics and Health” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	September 21st, 2022
Publication Date	November 2022

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

Health Editorial Office
health@scirp.org