

Special Issue on Public Health

Call for Papers

Public health has been defined as "the science and art of preventing disease, prolonging life and promoting human health through organized efforts and informed choices of society, organizations, public and private, communities and individuals". Analyzing the health of a population and the threats it faces is the basis for public health.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Public Health. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Disease control and prevention
- Public health surveillance
- Public health and epidemiology
- Health promotion and interventions
- Health policy and management
- Health services management
- Biostatistics
- Environmental medicine
- Behavioral health
- Global public health
- Public health and community medicine
- Public health economics
- Mental health promotion
- Occupational health
- Quality of life and wellbeing
- Healthcare applications
- Reproductive health and gender issue
- Smoking and health
- Public health and COVID-19

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the "Special Issue" under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field "Special Issue – Public Health" should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

Submission Deadline	October 6th, 2022
Publication Date	December 2022

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

Health Editorial Office
health@scirp.org