

Special Issue on Health Policy and Management

Call for Papers

Health Policy and Management is an interdisciplinary field focused on the organization, financing, effectiveness, and improvement of healthcare systems. It combines elements of public health, business, and policy to develop strategies that enhance healthcare quality, accessibility, and affordability. This area of study addresses the design and implementation of health policies, the management of healthcare institutions, and the evaluation of health services to ensure optimal public health outcomes. It prepares professionals to lead in healthcare settings, influence policy decisions, and improve healthcare delivery systems globally.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Health Policy and Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:
