Special Issue on Clinical Neuroscience

Call for Papers

Clinical neuroscience is a branch of neuroscience that focuses on the scientific study of fundamental mechanisms that underlie diseases and disorders of the brain and central nervous system. It seeks to develop new ways of conceptualizing and diagnosing such disorders and ultimately of developing novel treatments.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Clinical Neuroscience. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Clinical neurophysiology
- Clinical neuropsychology
- Clinical neuropsychiatry
- Clinical neurology
- Clinical neurosurgery
- Central nervous system disease
- Neuroscience and brain disorders
- Neurodegeneration
- Treatment and prevention of neurological disorder
- Neurodevelopmental disorder
- Neuroimaging

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Clinical Neuroscience” should be chosen during your submission.
