Special Issue on Psychosocial Oncology

Call for Papers

Psychosocial oncology is an interdisciplinary field at the intersection of physical, psychological, social, and behavioral aspects of the cancer experience for both patients and caregivers.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on Psychosocial Oncology. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Depression, anxiety and stress management
- Behavioral factors and cancer risk
- Psychosocial treatment and intervention
- Positive psychological reactions
- Social support and care
- Emotional regulation and health
- Health promoting behaviors and prevention
- Post-traumatic management
- Mental and psychological adjustment
- Cognitive-behavioral therapy
- Cognitive impairment and dysfunctions
- Nursing and care

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Psychosocial Oncology” should be chosen during your submission.
