Special Issue on Finance and Portfolio Management

Call for Papers

In finance, a portfolio is a collection of financial investments held by investors, hedge funds, financial institutions or professionals. It may contain a wide range of assets including real estate, art, and private investments. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments in the area of Finance and Portfolio Management.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring Finance and Portfolio Management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Asset pricing models
- Financial risk
- Managed accounts and funds
- Market portfolio
- Optimal portfolio
- Portfolio allocation
- Portfolio investment
- Portfolio theory

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - Finance and Portfolio Management” should be selected during your submission.
