

Special Issue on Adolescent Problems and Education

Call for Papers

Adolescent problems and education, both in developed countries and developing countries, are listed as the focus of social problems in the latter half of this century, and also one of the key tasks of education. Its importance is self-evident. Teenagers are in the critical period of growth, the most vulnerable to the surrounding adverse environment. Therefore, school education, family education and social education need close coordination. Only by facing the youth problems in social changes and strengthening life education and ethics education can we prevent adolescent problems from deteriorating.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original researches and review articles on exploring adolescent problems and education. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Adolescent psychological problems
- Adolescent maturation
- Healthy development of adolescents
- Adolescent violence tendency
- Adolescent sexual behavior
- Adolescent drug abuse
- Adolescent internet addiction
- Adolescent legal education
- Adolescent moral education
- Innovative education for adolescents

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – Adolescent Problems and Education” should be chosen during your submission.
