

Special Issue on COVID-19 and Social Change

Call for Papers

The coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19) that likes a silent dark shadow has invaded and shaken our world. It has brought a complete change to the way companies operate, people live, and governments regulate. The goal of this special issue is to provide a platform for scientists and academicians all over the world to promote, share, and discuss various new issues and developments during the COVID-19 crisis.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on exploring COVID-19 and Social Change. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Social change
- Public health
- Epidemiology
- Remote work
- Virtual communication
- Social distancing
- Lockdown
- Economic impact
- Digital transformation
- Healthcare systems
- Social movements
- COVID-19 and climate
- Social entrepreneurship in times of the crisis
- Collaborative innovation
- Technology-supported management of business disruptions
- Innovations for contact-free operations and services
- Agile and resilient strategies
- Technology-driven strategies for managing the pandemic
- Social life and mental health

Authors should read over the journal's For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal's Paper Submission System.

Please kindly specify the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title. The research field “Special Issue - COVID-19 and Social Change” should be selected during your submission.

Special Issue Timetable:

Submission Deadline	May 8th, 2024
Publication Date	July 2024

Guest Editor:

For further questions or inquiries, please contact Editorial Assistant at jss@scirp.org.