Special Issue on

International trade and Global Economy

Call for Papers

International trade is the exchange of capital, goods, and services across international borders or territories. In most countries, such trade represents a significant share of gross domestic product. While international trade has existed throughout history, its economic, social, and political importance has been on the rise in recent centuries. Global economy is the economy of the world, considered as the international exchange of goods and services that is expressed in monetary units of account.

In this special issue, we intend to invite front-line researchers and authors to submit original research and review articles on International trade and Global Economy. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- International trade and finance
- International market research
- Trade structure and patterns
- Imports and exports
- Trade barriers and trade flows
- International trade and competition
- International trade and economic growth
- Trade and globalization
- International capital flows
- International finance and macroeconomics
- Monetary economics
- New trade theory
- WTO and trade policy
- International trade and investment
- Labor markets
- Political economy
- Financial crisis
- Global production and supply chain management
- Environment sustainability
- Open economy
- COVID-19 and international trade

Authors should read over the journal’s For Authors carefully before submission. Prospective authors should submit an electronic copy of their complete manuscript through the journal’s Paper Submission System.
Please kindly notice that the “Special Issue” under your manuscript title is supposed to be specified and the research field “Special Issue – International trade and Global Economy” should be chosen during your submission.

According to the following timetable:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Submission Deadline</th>
<th>July 5th, 2022</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Publication Date</td>
<td>September 2022</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For publishing inquiries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Assistant at submission.entrance1@scirp.org

ME Editorial Office
me@scirp.org